What is this 'Smile e-booklet no 1' all about
Personal request with a thank you to you.

To Smile is one gift that is freely given by the giver and accepted by the receiver.

Included in this e-booklet are seven cards.

Each card has a different message in line with this first booklets theme. Yes the booklet has a theme. The first booklets theme is " What to do with a Smile".

RESOURCES
By following the emails you have accepted to receive resources like this e-booklet are coming your way.

The e-booklet themes themselves change over time. For instance there are:
● Laughter
● F.E.A.R
● Communicate
● Water
● Mindset

As stated these resources are gifts. The primary aim is to assist with communication between peoples. Sometimes we just have to use a third party inanimate communication tool.

Included in each e-booklet are other resources such as original sources, applications and tools used. Materials disclaimers such as the use of cookies within these. Check this link.

How to Use Basics

How ever you are receiving this 'Smile e-booklet' there are tailored to use scraping tools. Also known as 'copy and paste'.

With the massive new tool to suit every occasion situations search and find one that is recommended for your individual device.

Having opened the Smiles of your choice just copy that one and paste the visual where you intend to use it.

Use the Bookmark or Favorite tool and store the PDF on the Navigation bar - that way you have a quick access card communication tool kit.

Download the pdf and keep this in an easily to reach folder.

Why 'Smile' Third Party Tools?

Third Party Communication tools are a valuable asset within certain parts of communities. People who have difficulty with communication issues may just need a mental time out zone.

With today's technologies and a wonderful on the spot remembrance system these same people may take the time to just 'be' then scramble through their files for that one communication picture.

Copy the picture needed. And send.

Simply 'Jing' it.

With you controlling your mouse Jing will capture anything on your computer screen. Eiteher as an image or short video. And let's you share it instantly. I really like it when the scribble pen is used. AOr just a simple arrow with text included.

Send what you create or file. The choice is yours with Jing.

File or and recall.

One of the gifts some people on the Autism Spectrum may have is the ability to file and recall. The challenge is when and where these are filed or recalled.

They may have learned that each picture is a sentence. Throughout these card series there are different e-booklets with different themes.The cover picture represents the theme.

The color title represents the number of the e-booklet.

At the outset each card is different in shape, background, color of the text as well. Some are plain and singular in depth. Others will have masses of lines, colors, tones, shapes and shadows within.

These are done for a particular reason.   The knowledge to do this has come from a mix of personal experiences with my own High Functioning Autism self, being a 5th generation of and extended family who are basically all on the Autism Spectrum somewhere. Community development and the associated observations and participatory needs of youth activities as a Leader.
